Course Description:

This course explores how the values enshrined in the Indian Constitution — justice, equality, liberty, fraternity, democracy, and secularism — are voiced, challenged, and reimagined in Indian literature. Through multiple genres and diverse regional, tribal, and marginalized voices, the course examines the role of literature and cultural narratives in reclaiming and reinforcing constitutional ideals in the face of systemic exclusion.

Course Prerequisite: NIL

Course Outcomes:

By the end of the course, students will be able to

CO No.	Expected Outcome	Learning Domains
1	Understand and articulate key constitutional concepts in literary and cultural contexts.	U, A
2	Reflect on the challenges to secular and democratic ideals in India. Critically engage with issues of democracy, secularism, and cultural diversity.	E, A
3	Analyse literature's role in documenting and resisting structural injustices.	An, E
4	Explore intersections of law, identity, and narrative across genres and traditions.	An
5	Engage with literature beyond the printed page—oral traditions, graphic narratives, and testimonies.	A, C

Course Description:

This course offers a survey of English poetry from the Medieval period to the 21st century, tracing the evolution of poetic forms, and voices across time. Beginning with Canonical figures, the paper moves through the lyricism of the Romantics and Victorians, before engaging with the complex aesthetics and anxieties of Modernism and beyond. The course introduces diverse and resistant voices that challenge dominant traditions and expand the poetic canon, towards the end. Students will explore a wide range of poetic genres while developing skills in historical contextualization and critical analysis. Special attention is given to issues of gender, identity, and power, encouraging students to read poetry both as a literary and cultural artifact.

Course Prerequisite: NIL

Course Outcomes:

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

CO No.	Expected Outcome	Learning Domains
1	Trace the historical development of English poetry from the Medieval period to the 21st century, identifying key literary movements, genres, and representative authors.	R, U
2	Interpret poems within their social, cultural, and historical contexts, recognizing how poetry constructs ideological and aesthetic forms of its time.	U, An
3	Critically engage with canonical and counter voices, including women poets, postcolonial writers, and traditions that challenge dominant narratives.	An, E

4	Demonstrate critical thinking skills through written assignments, presentations, or discussions, articulating responses to both traditional and contemporary poetry.	E, A, C

Course Description:

This course helps students understand grammar as a tool for exploring how English functions in everyday life, rather than as a fixed set of rules. They will examine how ordinary people use grammar in various contexts—such as chats, emails, news reports, and academic writing. Instead of memorising rules, students will learn through real-life examples. They will identify patterns, analyse sentence structures, and use grammar to explain how language works. The goal is not to learn grammar in order to use language, but to use grammatical knowledge to describe language as it is actually used. By the end of the course, students will be able to analyse any piece of writing, understand how it is constructed, why it sounds the way it does, and use language with expert awareness.

Course Prerequisite: NIL

Course Outcomes:

CO No.	Expected Outcome	Learning Domains
1	Distinguish between prescriptive and descriptive grammar approaches	U
2	Identify, label, and describe syntactic structures and clause elements	A, An
3	Analyse tense, aspect, and modality structures in real-life contexts	An, A

M O D U L E	U N I T	DESCRIPTION	HOU RS 75
1	Module 1: Understanding Grammar – From Prescription to Description		15
	1	Prescriptive vs Descriptive Grammar (Use academic text Excerpts- journal articles, textbook passages, formal emails as well as social media posts and comments, such as tweets, Instagram captions, and WhatsApp chats.)
	2	Grammaticality vs. acceptability; appropriateness in context (Present grammatically correct sentences that are contextually awkward to trigger a discussion on the distinction between acceptability and grammaticality.)
	3	Register variation: formal vs. informal, spoken vs. written (Recognising Grammar in Context through Data: Instead of directly teaching register variation, students will observe real texts such as WhatsApp chats, legal notices, and news reports, and infer register differences.)
	4	Observing structural patterns across genres. (Use texts such as headlines, narratives, and interviews to help students discover patterns in real-life language use.)
2	Module 2: Clause Patterns and Sentence Building		15
	1	Syntactic Constituents: Subject, Verb, Object, Complement, Adjunct
	2	Sentence types: simple, compound, complex
	3	Clause hierarchy: main vs. subordinate; finite vs. non-finite
	4	Punctuation: Functions and Conventions in English
3	Module 3: Grammar of Tense, Aspect, and Modality		15
	1	Present, past, future tense systems and shifting time reference (Create timelines based on past and future narratives, e.g., sports commentaries

		and interviews. Use real-time tweets or diary entries to compare and analyse shifts in time reference.)
	2	Aspect: progressive, perfect, and combinations
	3	Verb Phrases and Adverbials
	4	Non-finite forms: Gerunds, Infinitives and Participles
	5	Modality: Modal Auxiliaries; Epistemic vs. Deontic Uses (Use videos and subtitles to analyse tense and aspect shifts in film scenes or interviews. Compare the use of modal verbs in instruction manuals with their use in casual conversation. Present modal verbs in authentic contexts such as advice forums, job descriptions, and legal manuals.)
	6	Conditionals: real, unreal, hypothetical; modal-auxiliary patterning

	Module 4: Noun Phrases and Sentence Expansion		15
4	1	Components of NPs: determiners, modifiers, head, postmodifiers (Provide rich noun phrases from novels or newspapers and have learners identify and label each component.)
	2	Prepositional phrases, participial phrases, and relative clauses
	3	Nominalisation through Practice (Use examples from legal or academic writing to identify heavy noun phrases and instances of nominalisation.)
	4	Expansion and transformation of sentences through NPs (Transform a tweet into an academic paragraph, focusing on NP structure and cohesion.)
	5	Common grammar errors
	6	Non-canonical word orders: clefting, passives, topicalisations

Course Description:

This Course introduces students to the field of migration and border studies, examining the dynamics of human mobility, displacement, and identity across historical and contemporary contexts. Drawing on key theoretical frameworks and literary narratives, the course explores themes of exile, transnationalism, refugeehood, and home-making. Special emphasis is placed on the intersection of global and local migration experiences, including internal migration in India and the specific socio-cultural realities of Kerala. Through readings, media analysis, and participatory learning, students will critically engage with the emotional, political, and cultural dimensions of migration and border formation.
